

Local Situation on Change

Since the mid 1990s, change, and how to handle it, has been one of the main concerns of management in Australia. One of the few things experts agree upon is that change will keep coming and it will probably get faster

A survey of local CEOs concluded that CHANGE

- is one of the main issues confronting organisations today
- will be a bigger challenge in the future
- is unable to be handled by traditional methods of management

(sources: Karpin Report, 1995; CEDA, 1997)